Re Item V

Reasoned statement under Rule 66.2(a)(ii) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

The international search report refers to A-documents only. Therefore the following documents D1 and D2 are cited by examiner's knowledge. Copies of the documents are appended hereto.

- D1: JP2001302523 (Patent abstracts of Japan)
D2: JP2002212083 (Patent abstracts of Japan)

Art. 6 As already stated by the international searching authority, claims 3-5 should be directed to specified pathological conditions (diseases).
Present claim 9 refers to all preceding claims. The treatment or prevention of the diseases cited in claim 1 in oysters or other animals cited in claim 9 is unclear.

Art. 33(2) The above mentioned lack of clarity notwithstanding, the present application does not meet the requirements of Article 33(2) PCT, because the subject-matter of claims 1, 2 and 4-6 does not appear to be new in the sense of Article 33(2) PCT.

D1 discloses the use of Lactobacillus and/or Streptococcus strains for the treatment/prophylaxis of arteriosclerosis.

Since present claims 1, 2 and 4-6 are neither restricted to the microorganisms cited in claims 10-13 of the present application nor to a purified protein fraction (see claim 15), the subject-matter of said claims 1, 2 and 4-6 is not considered to be new (Article 33(2) PCT).

A similar reasoning applies for the use of the Saccharomyces strains disclosed in D2.

Art. 33(3) An inventive step in the sense of Art. 33(3) PCT could be acknowledged for the claimed use of the specific protein fractions obtained according to the examples of the present application (claims 10-13 and 15).

Art. 33(4) The subject-matter of claims 1-21 is considered to be industrially applicable in the sense of Art. 33(4) PCT.
